WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

Monsoonal moisture will continue to move over the forecast area. This will bring a threat for thunderstorms to parts of interior northwest California this afternoon and evening. The coast will continue to see nighttime and morning clouds and fog with some afternoon clearing.

San Francisco Weather:

Monsoonal moisture aloft may result in isolated sprinkles across the North Bay through this morning. An inland cooling trend is forecast for the remainder of the week as the marine layer deepens and onshore flow increases.

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

Sacramento Weather:

Clouds will continue to spread across the interior of northern California today. There will be a chance of showers and thunderstorms over the mountains into Wednesday with some sprinkles possible over the valley. Temperatures will gradually cool off the remainder of the week.

Hanford Weather:

High pressure anchored over the Four Corners Regions will keep above normal temperatures across the central California interior through much of this week. Afternoon and evening showers and thunderstorms will be possible over the Sierra Nevada through Thursday as monsoonal moisture continues to move over the forecast area.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

Upper level high pressure centered over the Great Basin will bring above normal temperatures to interior areas through midweek. Slightly cooler weather is expected for the end of the week as a weak upper level low develops off the West Coast. Another warm up is possible for next weekend as high pressure expands westward again.

Extreme Southwestern California Including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

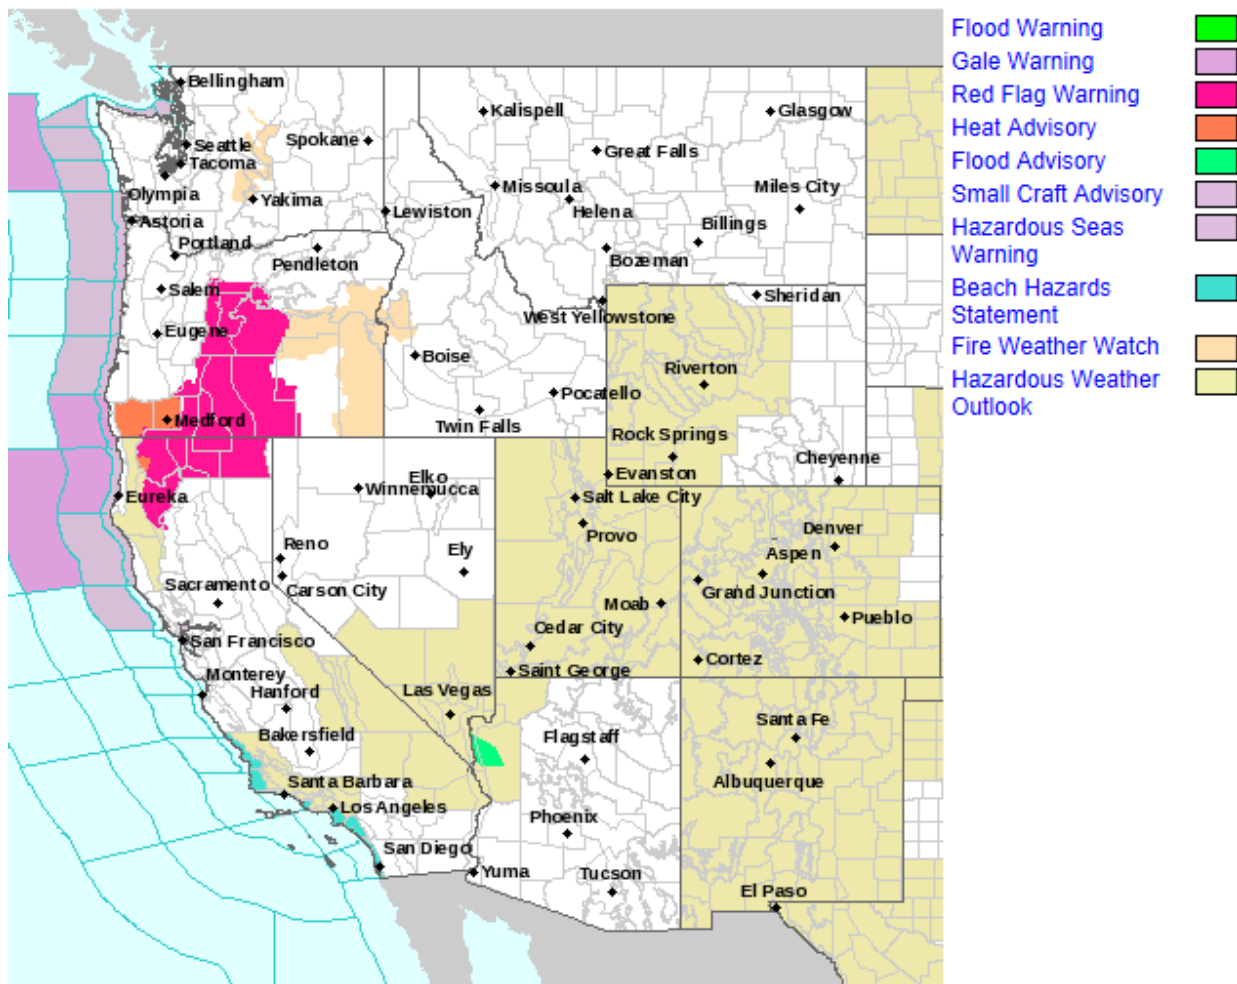

Continued slow drying of monsoonal moisture is expected today with greater drying for Wednesday through Saturday. Some afternoon clouds are possible for the mountains but the chance of any thunderstorms is quite small. For coastal areas, the marine layer will slowly deepen the next few days with night and morning coastal low clouds and patchy fog extending inland into the western valleys early this morning, portions of the inland valleys Wednesday morning, and farther into the inland valleys Thursday and Friday. For Saturday through early next week, strengthening high pressure aloft to the east will bring warming and a possible influx of monsoonal moisture for Sunday into early next week with a chance of thunderstorms.

Southeast California Weather:

A monsoon weather pattern will continue into the weekend. Each day will bring varying chances of afternoon and evening showers and thunderstorms across the forecast area. Today through Thursday appear to be a bit more favorable than over the upcoming weekend as drier air from the west may begin to move into the region.

CAL OES ACTIVATIONS

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought

- The SOC is activated at Level 2 in support of the Drought State of Emergency from 0800-1700 hours daily.
- The Inland REOC is activated at Level 2 from 0800-1700 Monday through Friday or as needed.
- The Southern REOC is activated at Level 1.
- The Santa Barbara County OA EOC is activated at Level 2 to be handled by the duty officer for the purpose of monitoring activities and gaining situational awareness. The operational period is Monday – Friday, 0800-1700 hours.

Situational Summary

On January 17, 2014 Governor Edmund G. Brown proclaimed a State of Emergency and directed state officials to take all necessary actions to prepare for drought conditions. The State Operation Center (SOC) is activated to implement objectives in support of the Governor's priorities. The lack of winter rain and snowfall has resulted in extremely dry conditions in many parts of the State. Reservoir levels are down significantly from where they should be on average for this time of year. If conditions continue severe impacts to municipal water supplies, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities are likely in store for the State over the next few months. Negative economic impacts will also result.

The drought could result in severe impacts to the municipal water supplies, wells, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities for several months. The SOC continues to be activated to monitor the situation statewide, and support regional and local operational areas.

- On 7/8/14 the State Water Board will publicly release proposed water conservation requirements to reduce water waste across the state. These proposed emergency regulations include mandatory restrictions on water use, and will be considered by the Water Board on 7/15/14.
- California Department of Fish and Wildlife staff evacuated trout from a major hatchery on the American River last week to avoid a massive die-off of fish due to increased water temperatures in the hatchery. Over two million fish are being relocated and released earlier than normal due to drought conditions.
- The Taskforce continues to meet regularly to take actions that conserve water and coordinate state response to the drought.
- Cal OES continues to gather drought-related costs from state agencies and local governments.

Situational Summary

Open Burn Ban in effect across the state: Open burning is now prohibited on 31 million acres of land across the state, due to a burn ban that CAL FIRE has directed each of its unit chiefs to implement. This ban on open burning in state responsibility areas (outside of cities and towns) reduces wildfire danger amidst extremely dry conditions.

The National Weather Service provided the following synopsis for the relationship of Blowing Dust Advisories and the drought conditions in southeast California: Dust storms are common due to increased thunderstorm activity and the winds produced with these storms, during monsoonal flows. The severity of the dust storms could be locally exacerbated by drought conditions. In any event, the public should monitor NWS for any advisories and warnings issued by NWS.

On July 1 2014, administration of the CDPH Drinking Water Program (DWP) transferred to the California State Water Resources Control Board (SWRCB) Division of Drinking Water. CDPH and the SWRCB entered a Memorandum of Understanding outlining a three-month transition period during which drought response activities and any other emergencies will be coordinated jointly between the two organizations.
